2019 USPOULTRY Environmental Management Seminar to Address Myriad Challenges Facing Today’s Industry Environmental Professionals

Tucker, Ga., Aug. 15, 2019 – USPOULTRY’s 2019 Environmental Management Seminar provides a unique learning opportunity for professionals concerned with the environmental challenges facing the industry today. Sponsored by USPOULTRY, the seminar will be held Sept. 19-20, at the Hilton Sandestin Beach Golf Resort & Spa in Destin, Florida.

“Environmental stewardship remains an industry priority,” commented Steve Patrick, senior director of environmental services for Tyson Foods, and committee chairman. “The planning committee has put together a great program that we hope will benefit all attendees in their efforts to tackle the environmental challenges and issues we all face.”

The program, developed by industry environmental leaders, will include a variety of topics, such as a Regulatory Update; Sustainability: The Value of Corporate Social Responsibility Programs; Addressing Community Relations; Preventing Upset and Recovery of Wastewater Systems; Environmental Opportunities in Rendering; and Beyond Regulatory Compliance…The Business Case for PSM. The 2019 Clean Water Awards will also be presented, and those winners will present virtual tours of their facilities.
